Tenkouseki is a unique stone that was formed in ancient times through cycles of seismic activity, and contains dozens of minerals (trace elements) which are thought to have been trapped inside the stone during magma outgassing.

The composition of these trace minerals includes a broad array of essential minerals that are said to be the solution to reduced enzymic activity in our bodies due to mineral depletion in the modern diet.

EPOCH-21 product materials

Tenkouseki (天香石)

Tenkouseki is a unique stone that was formed through cycles of volcanic activity over 150 million years ago. So far, deposits have only been identified in the Mt. Sobo area of Kyushu.

EPOCH-21 Co., Ltd. is proud to use tenkouseki excavated in Takachiho, Miyazaki Prefecture. This metamorphic rock contains dozens of minerals (essential trace elements) which are thought to have been trapped inside the stone during magma outgassing, and it releases high levels of 4 to 14 micrometer far-infrared energy. It is known that far-infrared rays help raise human body temperature, which supports four important keys of a long and healthy life: blood circulation, hormone balance, immunity, and metabolism.

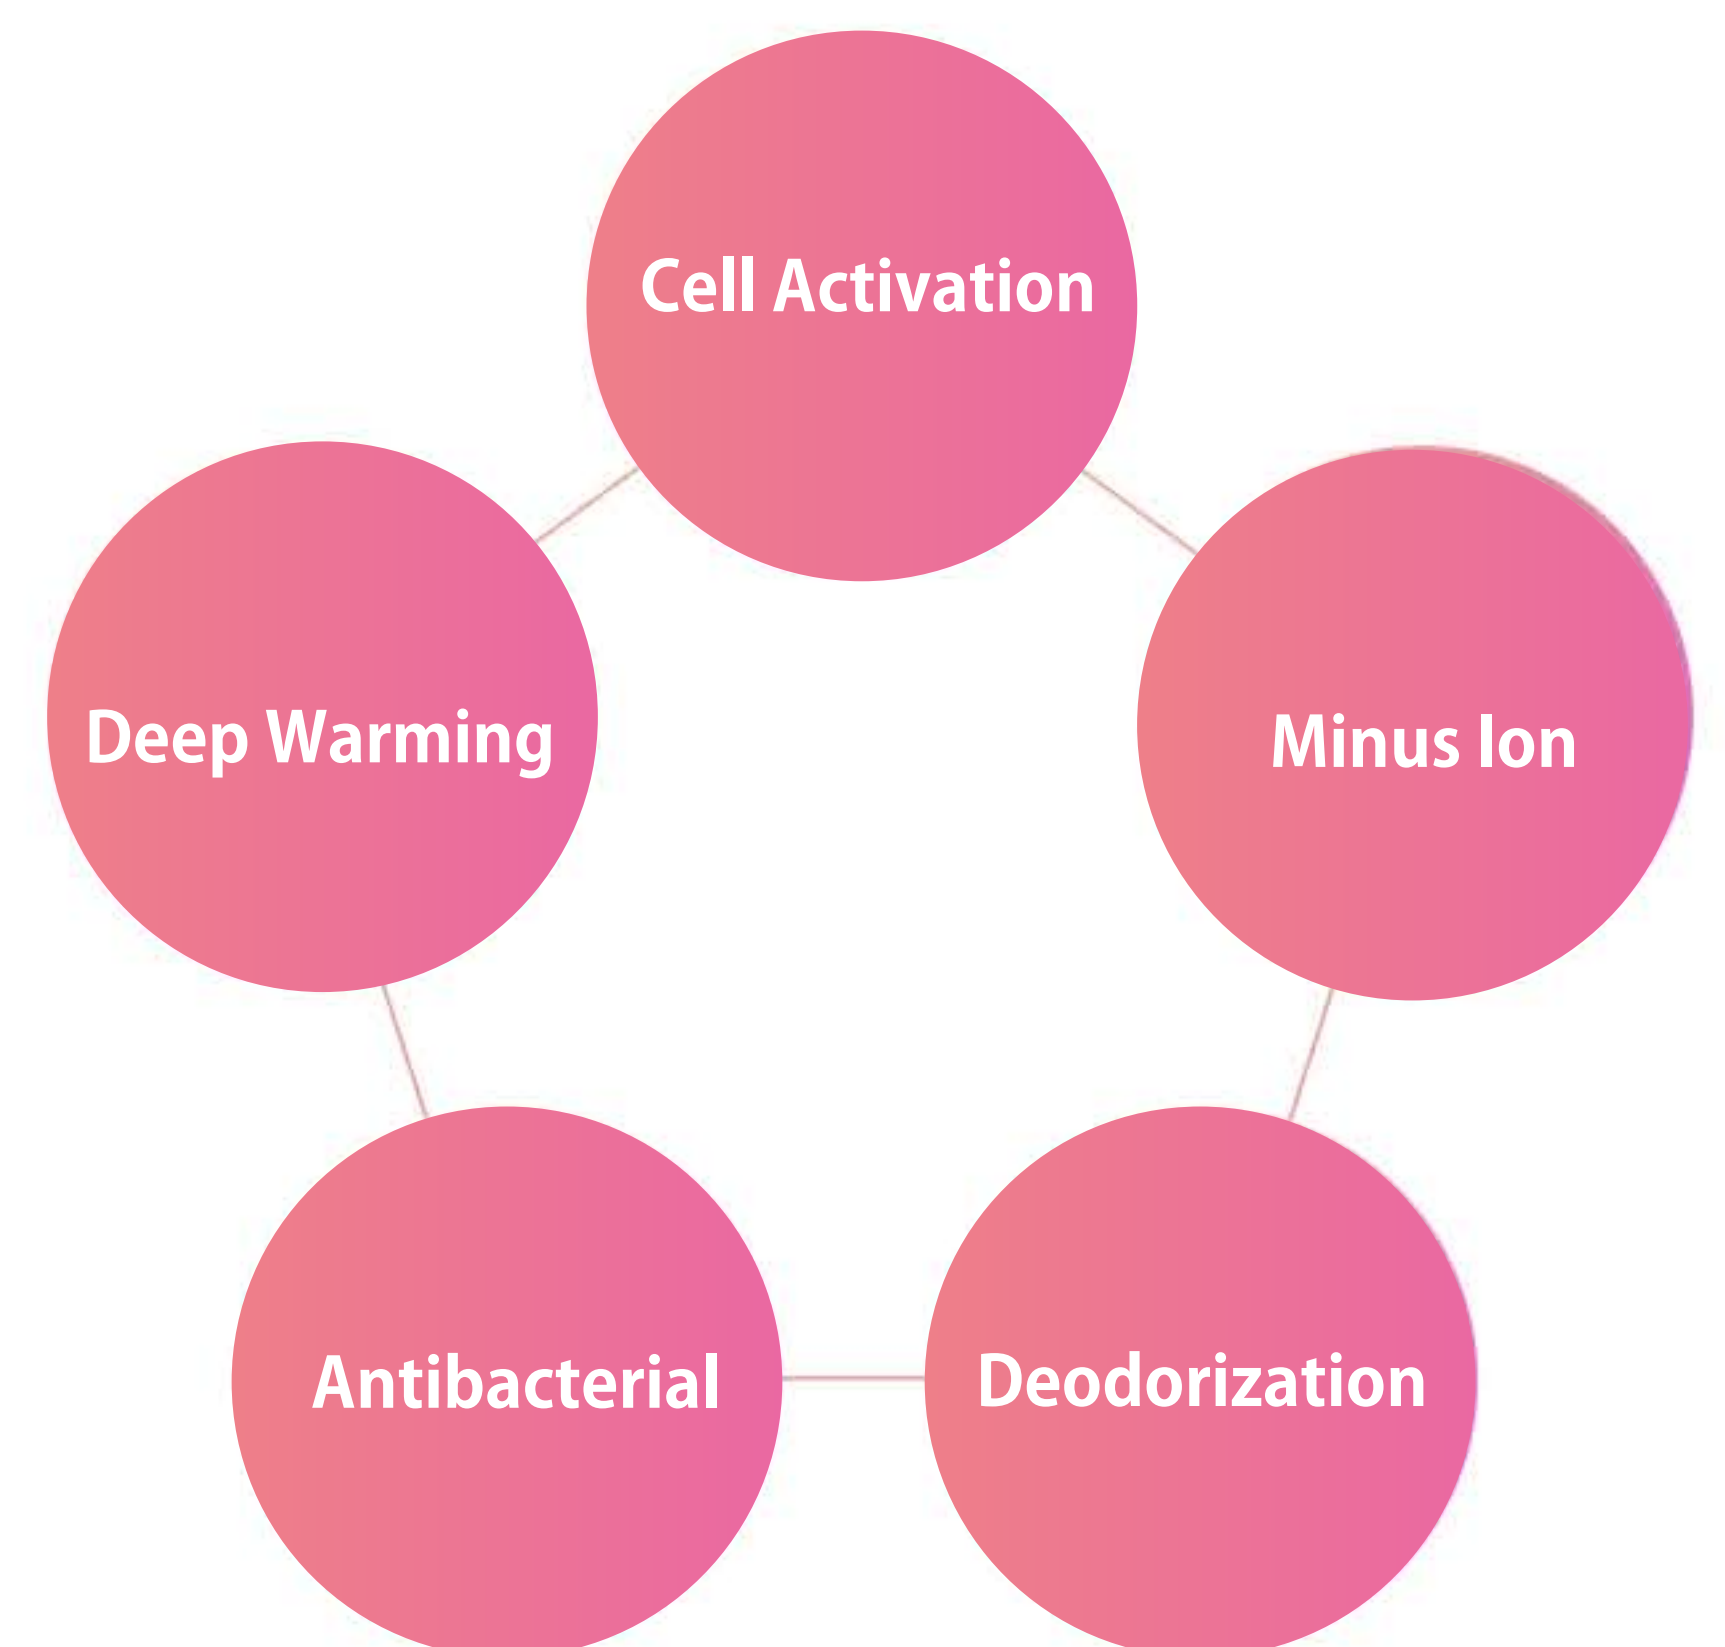

We utilize this unique stone in our health support products including PiDD's baths, gan-banyoku stone sauna rooms, stone sauna bathtubs, and stone sauna beds.

Currently, tenkouseki is actively used in diverse industries including agriculture, construction, health care, and beauty, while studies continue to discover new applications.

Unique new materials used in diverse industries

Tenkouseki has essential trace elements and growth-stimulating energy that supports wellness from both the inside (organs) and outside (skin) of our bodies on chemical and biological levels.

EPOCH-21 continues to search for ways to improve and expand its functions, and we have developed an original method to replicate its unique attributes in man-made products to deliver the maximum performance in a guaranteed and stable way across a variety of multiple use-case environments. This unique new material is gaining attention for its potential use in health care, beauty, and other industries.

GREETING

Message from the Company President

EPOCH-21 means the arrival of a new age in the 21st century.

Our modern lifestyle has completed the transition from quality of life based on “food, clothing, and housing” to “health care, employment, and wellbeing”. People desire to focus on the Earth as a whole, and reconnect with nature and the natural state of being. Tenkouseki offers a perfect balance of raw nature, a source of cosmic energy, a source of human qi energy, and a source of vitality that represents the sum of energy that we need for daily happiness.

Modern people are said to live in a state mediocre health, suffering from a lack of exercise, a lack of sleep, a lack of nutrients, polluted air, and tainted water. Our blood is full of waste matter, our body temperature is low, and up to half of all people develop cancer in addition to an increasing number of illnesses due to lowered immune function. Due to changes in the modern diet, most people are said to consume 8 kg of food additives every year, 4 kg of which is said to accumulate within our bodies. We are living in a troubled time with higher rates of modern diseases including toxins in our blood, disease and damage in our blood vessels, side effects of prescription medicine, and Alzheimer’s disease (dementia). It has become more important than ever to detox and flush out the accumulation of chemical compounds in our bodies. Experts say that raising the body temperature by just 1 degree causes a 6-fold increase in immunity, and raising it by 3 degrees causes a 20-fold increase. EPOCH-21 is committed to overcoming modern diseases through thermal warming and detox. In order to achieve this, we have developed a pioneering tenkouseki sauna system centered around our most powerful item: the PiDD’s (Pink Dragon Detox System) sand bath using tenkouseki ceramic beads. Furthermore, we have established the Ceramic Beads Hammam Association (CBHA) to promote this pioneering sauna system throughout Japan and beyond. Thank you for your current and continuing support.

Tenkouseki ... One of Earth's great blessings
PiDD's Bath
 Ultimate Healing Bath System

What is a PiDD's Bath?

Inspired by the beachfront sand baths of Ibusuki City, PiDD's baths are a pioneering sauna system that uses tenkouseki ceramic beads instead of ordinary beach sand.

The PiDD's advanced bath system using tenkouseki ceramic beads is gaining recognition for its potential to treat chronic conditions, including symptoms triggered by modern environmental factors, to maintain natural beauty, and to prevent the advance of dementia, by boosting immunity and flushing out toxins using the natural power of elevated body temperature.

Energy released by tenkouseki ceramics stimulates body temperature

Inspired by the beachfront sand baths of Ibusuki City in Kagoshima Prefecture, PiDD's baths are a pioneering sauna system that uses tenkouseki ceramic beads instead of ordinary beach sand. Tenkouseki has powerful warming, insulation, cell activation, and deodorization properties, making these 3 mm ceramic beads an ideal substitute. This advanced sand bath heats the beads in 50°C hot water before gently arranging them under, above, and all around the sauna user.

Unlike ordinary sand, our product provides a unique long-lasting warming pattern that continues after the bath is finished. After exiting the bath, the body cools down immediately, followed by a second rise in temperature approximately 25 minutes later. The reason for this gentle rise in body temperature comes from within - the internal organs are stimulated into initiating metabolic renewal, which generates heat while flushing out waste products. Ordinary baths and saunas aren't powerful enough to adequately remove harmful substances which accumulate inside of body fat cells, such as dioxins and lead. In order to achieve this, it is essential to release sweat through the sebaceous glands. Oily sweat produced in the deeper layers of the skin contains fat-soluble toxins, cholesterol, and other substances.

Deep Warming For Disease Prevention
 Experts say that raising the body temperature by just 1 degree causes a 6-fold increase in immunity, and raising it by 3 degrees causes a 20-fold increase. Raising the body's internal temperature and flushing out toxins through sweat are powerful tools for both beauty and physical health. You will be shocked to see how much grime comes off the ceramic beads during post-bath washing. Each session boosts full-body exfoliation, leaving your skin smooth and bright, followed by increased cell turnover. Repeat users can expect to benefit from a wide range of effects including detoxification, better metabolism, higher energy, stress relief, more beautiful skin, improved immunity, and relief from symptoms of many ailments.

Tenkouseki carbon thermal sauna dome

Deep warming from carbon and sauna dome

Carbon thermal sheets release a gentle heat using carbon fiber high far-infrared heaters. While ordinary stone and ceramic saunas transfer heat directly, our sheets offer a more subtle and unique effect that delivers heat through the skin to resonate with tissue cells and warm the body core in a gentle but thorough manner.

Ordinary baths and saunas aren't powerful enough to adequately remove harmful substances which accumulate inside of body fat cells, such as dioxins and lead. In order to achieve this, it is essential to release sweat through the sebaceous glands. Oily sweat produced in the deeper layers of the skin contains fat-soluble toxins, cholesterol, and other substances.

After laying down for only 30 minutes on a carbon thermal sheet, users will easily release sweat through the sebaceous glands. Why are our stone sauna rooms so effective in stimulating the release of sweat through the sebaceous glands? The secret is the carbon component of our thermal sheets. Carbon is a primary component of all life on Earth, and it resonates within our cells. It efficiently and directly activates the sebaceous glands in the deep layers of our skin to push out dirty sweat and harmful toxins.
